

Riviera Pair Head Festival Committee

After a lapse of many years, St. James Church in Redondo Beach is planning a giant Parish Festival, church officials announced today. Dates for the event have been set for Saturday and Sunday, May 22 and 23, at the St. James Church school ground, Vincent St., and Pacific Coast Highway.

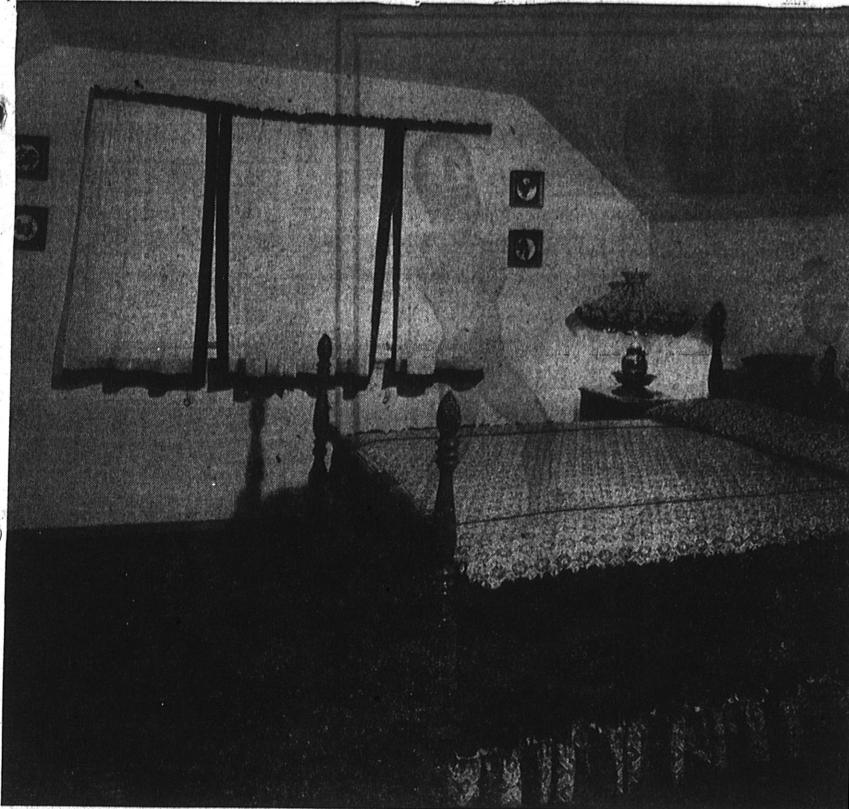

Appointed as co-chairmen to head up the Festival committee are Will Zens, 167 Via los Miradores and George Schneider, 636 Calle Miramar, both of Hollywood Riviera. Five districts have been set up with district chairmen and committees to operate under the general direction of Zens and Schneider. District chairmen appointed are John T. Heftig, 6359 Bindevald Road, Torrance, District 5; John Carlisle, Jr., 328 Pasco de Gracia, Hollywood Riviera, District 4; Herb Gulick, 713 Rita, Redondo Beach, District 3; John Czuleger, 722 S. Catalina Ave., District 2; and Felix O'Reilly, 1518 Bonnie Brae, Hermosa Beach, District 1.

"A wedding gift with a future." That's how every bride feels about a gift of United States Savings Bonds. Because when those Bonds mature, they pay back four dollars for every three dollars invested. What's more, these improved Savings Bonds can be held as long as ten years beyond their maturity date and earn further interest. A Savings Bond which you purchase for $18.75 for a bride today will return her $33.67 in nineteen years and eight months—a return of 80% on your original gift. Give your favorite bride-to-be a gift of United States Savings Bonds. They'll show an interest in her future.

CO-CHAIRMEN OF ST. JAMES FESTIVAL . . . Hollywood Rivieras George Schneider and Will Zens were appointed co-chairmen of the St. James Church Giant Parish Festival recently, church officials announced. Here, Schneider (seated) and Zens discuss plans for the festival which will be held on the St. James School grounds in Redondo Beach on Saturday and Sunday, May 22 and 23.

MASTER BEDROOM . . . Shown is the upstairs master bedroom in the new "Story Book Homes" being built on the Ellinwood site south of Sepulveda Blvd. in Torrance. Note the interesting ceiling line, the builders urge. All of the "Story Book Homes" are two stories high with four bedrooms and two baths. Full prices range from $11,000 plus impounds.

Ellinwood 'Story Book Homes' Open For Public's Inspection

A larger and more elaborate version of the unique, two-story, four-bedroom, two-bath home developed so successfully by the Yilton Kaufman Construction Corporation is now on view at the new "Story Book Home" location south of Sepulveda Blvd. on Ellinwood Dr.

This new community of 1200 square foot homes in the rolling hills of northwest Torrance is open for public inspection this week-end. Down payment for non-vet or vet is $1250. Full price ranges from $11,000 plus impounds.

Major Interest Point
The second story, with its two large bedrooms, bathroom and many closets, is said by builders to be the major point of interest to most home-seekers. Here again the feeling of spaciousness is much greater by comparison with former "Story Book Homes," and it permits real "spreading out" downstairs, where there are two more bedrooms, a full bathroom, large living room and a big living kitchen with loads of natural finish wood cabinets and unique papered ceilings, builders report.

The two story plan permits grouping of all work convenient to the kitchen, easily reached by the busy housewife. Ample window area assures light in every corner. Asphalt tile kitchen floor simplified cleaning, maintains the smart, well-finished look common to the entire house.

Homes Share Features
While each house is finished as an individual project, giving it a definite custom appearance, homes in this community share such details as dual gas furnaces, ACA-approved 30-gallon automatic water heaters, wardrobe-type closets, quality hard-

National Supply Man Elected To Harbor Welfare Group Post

Charles Marvos, welfare chairman of the Employees' Club of the National Supply Company, was elected one of the delegates-at-large to the executive committee of the Harbor Area Welfare Council at the regular meeting of the Council held in the American Legion Hall, Wilmington, recently.

Other delegates-at-large are Mrs. L. B. Robertson, representing the Parent-Teacher work in San Pedro and Mrs. Desire Rastrom, affiliated with the Coordinating Council in Dominguez.

Hazel Newman was elected president for the next year, succeeding the Rev. Arthur Kent. Other officers elected were the Rev. Donald Gaines, first vice-president; Mrs. Vera L. Armer, second vice-president and membership chairman; Mrs. Evelyn Sullivan, secretary.

Miss Estelle Alston, supervisor for groups for the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Los Angeles, was the speaker and she reviewed the recent report of the Youth Project Narcotics Committee. "A Proposed Cooperative Plan to Meet the Welfare Needs of Youth" is the title of the report and it is based on a detailed examination of ten years of work in the "less chance" areas of Los Angeles together with the latest studies of the problem in other parts of the United States.

Prevention Said Cure
"Early in its deliberations," states the introduction to the report, "the Youth Project Narcotics Committee realized that the real hope for the solution of the problem of drug addiction among youth is in the field of prevention. The committee found that the factors contributing to drug usage were generally the same as those that contribute to other forms of delinquency. Hence it was recognized that if narcotics were to be fought through prevention, it would be necessary to develop a broad plan which would attack the problems that lead to juvenile delinquency."

New Philosophy Told
The plan, as reviewed by Miss Alston, includes a new philosophy in social work in which the workers would have the responsibility to take action in behalf of youth. They would engage in vigorous outgoing activity in behalf of children in difficulty whose parents are unable or unwilling to enlist the help of an agency.
"Recognition of early symptoms of emotional disturbance is an important factor," added Miss Alston, "but there must be continuing follow-up work until the problem is solved. To save time and the duplication of efforts, the new plan calls for the coordination of the services of all agencies, both public and private, which deal with the subject."
Joe P. Maldonado, who is now executive secretary of the Harbor Welfare Council, was a member of the Youth Project Narcotics Committee, and he added pertinent details. "The plan will cost money," he admitted, "but it will not be nearly as expensive to keep it in full operation as our juvenile courts and detention homes are to the taxpayers now. New York City has tried it out in several of its delinquency areas and it has proved so successful that their State Legislature and the City combined to continue it for two more years."
